US diplomat backs former PM's charity

THE US ambassador to the UK is to host a reception today in honour of a charity founded by former PM Gordon Brown.

Jane D Hartley will urge more companies to back Multibank, which provides clothes, furniture and toys to families to prevent them from falling into crisis.

Amazon UK and Comic Relief have announced £6million to help expand Multibanks across the UK.

Ms Hartley said: "Multibank is one of the best tools to provide essential goods to the people who need them most."

Mr Brown said: "No product ever needs be wasted while we have families in need of them."
